Vier Wêreld-Alopeciadag saam met Kaalkopkjint

Kqiara Russell is 'n leerder van Laerskool Rustenburg en skep bewusmaking van Alopecia op sosiale media onder die "handle" van "Kaalkopkjint".

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - "Kaalkopkjint" (Bald • Brave • Beautiful) het onlangs hul 2026 Wêreld-Alopeciadag-bewusmakingsveldtog bekend gestel.

Kaalkopkjint is 'n onafhanklike Suid-Afrikaanse bewusmakingsinisiatief wat ontstaan het uit die persoonlike reis van Kqiara Russell (8) wat woonagtig is in Rustenburg. Die inisiatief gebruik opvoeding, sosiale media en gemeenskapsprojekte om gesprekke oor Alopecia aan te moedig en groter begrip binne Suid-Afrikaanse gemeenskappe te bevorder.

Wêreld Alopeciadag word vanjaar op Vrydag, 31 Julie, herdenk en "Kaalkopkjint" nooi plaaslike skole, besighede, kerke, sportklubs, organisasies en gemeenskappe regoor Suid-Afrika uit om deel te wees van hierdie nasionale bewusmakingsinisiatief. Die doel van die veldtog is om groter bewustheid, begrip en aanvaarding van Alopecia te bevorder.

Alopecia is 'n outo-immuun toestand wat haarverlies veroorsaak. Hoewel dit nie aansteeklik is nie en nie 'n persoon se vermoëns beperk nie, ervaar baie kinders en volwassenes steeds onkunde, verkeerde aannames en sosiale stigma. As deel van die veldtog word deelnemers aangemoedig om op 31 Julie iets blou te dra, 'n foto te neem en dit op sosiale media te plaas en dan vir Kaalkopkjint te "tag".

Verskeie skole het reeds hul deelname aan die veldtog bevestig, en verdere skole, besighede en organisasies word uitgenooi om ook deel te neem.

Hierdie is nie 'n fondsinsameling nie. Die veldtog fokus uitsluitlik op bewusmaking, opvoeding en die bevordering van begrip en aanvaarding vir mense wat met Alopecia leef.

Kaalkopkjint hoop om deur hierdie inisiatief 'n nasionale gesprek oor Alopecia aan te wakker en 'n omgewing te help skep waar kinders en volwassenes met Alopecia met groter selfvertroue en aanvaarding kan leef.

Alle veldtogopdaterings en bewus-makingsmateriaal sal op die Kaalkopkjint Facebook-blad gedeel word.

"Saam kan ons 'n gemeenskap bou waar kinders geleer word om verskille te verstaan, empatie te toon en mekaar onvoorwaardelik te aanvaar."

This relief, according to North West Department of Social Development, forms part of #OperationWinterWarmth as MEC Sussana Dantjie alongside F. Bham and company spent the day engaging caregivers.

They visited the six Non-Profit Organisations (NPOs) responsible for delivering daily care to communities across Moruleng.

Among the beneficiaries were Kgolagano Old Age and Disability Home, Lesedi Modderkuil Edu-Care, Dimakatso Safe House, Dikweipi Old Age & Disability Home, Bokamoso Old Age Home and Mogwase Hospice.

MEC Dantjie thanked F. Bham and company for leading the initiative and acknowledged Standard Bank for its continued investment in communities such as Moruleng.

500 hours without electricity - and counting

Marise le Roux

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Approximately two months ago, Rustenburg's electricity crisis dominated national news outlets and just a few weeks later, here we are again...

With a flurry of embarrassment after having to explain herself on live television and in national newspapers, Rustenburg Local Municipality (RLM) Mayor, Shiela Mabale-Huma and her management team, quickly addressed the ongoing electricity outages in predominantly the Rustenburg CBD, Waterval East and Eat End. For the most part, Waterval East and the CBD has noted improvement in steady electricity supply after intervention measures were implemented, but East End seems to be, continuously, getting the short end of the stick.

According to Cobus Nortjé, Ward Councillor for Ward 18, the main challenge is electrical infrastructure that "has reached the end of its operational lifespan." Nortjé highlighted the fact that insufficient preventative maintenance is being done on the electricity network. "Cable theft and vandalism also contribute significantly to the problem," he adds.

Now, both community members and businesses are suffering.

According to one local business owner, "Rustenburg cannot hope to attract new investment while existing businesses are forced to spend hundreds of thousands of rands each year compensating for failing municipal infrastructure.

Reliable electricity is not a luxury - it is the foundation upon which every successful local economy is built."

A community of keyboard warriors

Authorities are constantly reminding community members to be vigilant against criminal elements and vandalism, including reporting suspicious activity near mini-substations, main substations, and areas where underground electrical cables are located. Nortjé explains: "If suspicious individuals are seen tampering with electrical infrastructure or digging near cable routes, the matter should be reported immediately to RLM's Public Safety Unit and the South African Police Service (SAPS)."

However, in many instances, residents have become keyboard warriors, not active participants. When Rustenburg Herald invited residents to appear on the front page photo, we were met with excuses and vague undertakings of "we will be there".

Martha Lerm, a resident who also attends testing sites to give updates to the community, has on numerous occasions voiced her frustrations with members of the public insulting ward councillors who are on site.

"We tried getting proper updates and we will still try and get updates. We cannot work on the power grid. We are not allowed. Just know that [we] are trying to assist to get the power on [and we] do not deserve your rude words."

Yes, the maintenance, improvement and repair of infrastructure is the responsibility of RLM and other authorities, but does it really appease the situation when residents moan and groan and curse on WhatsApp groups and Facebook?

The entrance to Munic substation in Zendeling Street - a familiar name in connotation to constant electrical supply problems for residents of Ward 18 in Rustenburg. (Photo: Cecile Volschenk)

The situation in Ward 18

In the opinion of Councillor Nortjé, maintenance of the electrical network is essential. "The Industries Substation, which supplies electricity to a large portion of Rustenburg, must be upgraded, while the out-of-service ring feeder cables, which serve as backup supply lines, need to be repaired to improve the reliability of the network."

Nortjé, who often reports to work sites himself to provide the community with updates, says that the biggest challenge during outages is "accurately locating the source of a fault. Testing equipment is not serviced regularly, making the work of technical teams considerably more difficult. It is important to emphasise that the testing and repair teams have the necessary expertise and are committed to resolving faults, but the equipment available to them requires attention. At present, there is only one fault-testing unit available to serve the entire municipality."

What exacerbates the problem is short term solutions being applied to long term problems. "The Industries/Munic feeder line has received an estimated 15 repair joints over the past six months. While these repairs help maintain the electricity supply, they do not provide a permanent solution," says Nortjé. "The Munic feeder line will ultimately need to be replaced in its entirety. Every additional repair joint installed increases the risk of further weak points developing along the cable. The municipality has already begun a project to convert a section of the line near the Molen Street bridge to an overhead system to reduce vandalism. The poles have been erected, but the cables still need to be connected. The existing cable was installed more than 40 years ago and has reached the end of its intended service life. Unfortunately, the current financial year's budget does not provide for the complete replacement of the feeder line. Replacing it will cost millions of rands, as it extends over several kilometres. At present, the municipality is primarily focused on crisis management, and there is no confirmed timeline for the full replacement of the line."

A business perspective

In response to the effect of continuous electricity interruptions on the business sector, Susan Winter, Managing Director of NJR Steel comments: "Our business keeps accurate records of every power outage by means of the hour meter installed on our diesel generators. These records paint a disturbing picture."

"In 2023, when South Africa endured the worst period of load shedding in its history, our business was without electricity for a total of 172 hours. In 2024, despite national load shedding ending in March, our recorded downtime increased to 208 hours. In 2025, when South Africa was largely free of load shedding, our business spent 295 hours operating without municipal electricity. In the first six months of 2026, we have already recorded 491 hours without electricity. If this trend continues, we are projected to lose approximately 982 hours of electricity by year-end. Based on an 8.5-hour working day, this equates to approximately 116 working days - almost 45% of an entire working year."

Taking the lost hours in productivity into account, the financial impact is equally alarming. "During the first six months of 2026, our expenditure on diesel and generator maintenance amounted to R103 850. At the current rate, this cost will exceed R200 000 by the end of the year, excluding the hidden costs of increased equipment wear, maintenance, lost productivity, delayed deliveries and disrupted customer service."

Coenie Struwig, owner of Oester Voere concurs. "Our electricity account runs on approximately R2 000 per month. However, if we need to use a generator, costs climb to R1 000 per day." That is a staggering difference in expenditure and cuts directly into business profits.

Winter's opinion is that the responsibility for these financial losses lies squarely at the feet of RLM. "While businesses are invited to breakfast engagements by the mayor, and hear encouraging speeches about economic development and investment, there appears to be little urgency in addressing one of the most fundamental requirements for economic growth: a reliable electricity supply."

The continuous electricity outages also impact workers and their families. Winter continues, "The livelihoods of over 100 employees and their families depend on the continued success of our business. Money that should be invested in growth, new equipment, training and employment is instead being spent keeping generators running."

Safety and security - or placating the public?

Rustenburg Herald investigated conditions at some of the local substations and the working conditions leaves much to be desired.

At one particualr substation, there is no guard house. Security guards work 12-hour shifts and there is no running water, no toilet and no electricity.

It came to light that some security staff also have no radios and have to use their own airtime and cell phones to report problems.

RLM has continuously claimed that there is (sufficient) security at critical infrastructure points, however, this seems to be lip service at its best.

In a recent media statement Tony Bridger (DA PR Councillor) comments: "Protecting critical infrastructure requires more than simply repairing damaged equipment after every incident. It requires a coordinated response between RLM, SAPS, and other law enforcement agencies to strengthen security at substations, increase visible patrols at vulnerable sites, improve surveillance, and ensure that those responsible are identified, arrested, and successfully prosecuted."

However, if the security workers have to endure lack of basic human services, how can we expect them to perform their duties of protecting critical infrastructure to the best of their ability?

Comment from RLM

Rustenburg Herald requested comment on the plan of action by Rustenburg Local Municipality to address the electricity crisis in Ward 18 - and the Communications Department acknowledged receipt of our enquiry - but no reply was received at the time of going to press.

Municipal Manager faces misconduct charges

ActionSA has filed formal financial misconduct charges against Rustenburg Municipal Manager, Advocate Ashmar Khuduge.

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - ActionSA has filed formal financial misconduct charges against Rustenburg Municipal Manager, Advocate Ashmar Khuduge, after he attempted to push through a settlement that would have abandoned R203 million in recoveries and instead paid up to R55.8 million to companies whose contracts the High Court had already declared unlawful.

The deal, tabled as Item 104 at the Special Council Meeting on 29 January 2026, misrepresented the Auditor-General's position, withheld critical documents, and directed payments into irregular accounts. Council rejected the settlement outright.

"An accounting officer is meant to defend the public purse, not mislead Council into approving a R200-million raid on it. Advocate Khuduge acted with impunity, misrepresented the facts and tried to sign away money owed to the people of Rustenburg," the party said in a recent media statement.

"ActionSA's submission records that Khuduge unilaterally withdrew matters from the court roll, claimed false delegation to settle, and sidelined both Council and the courts. The Supreme Court of Appeal has confirmed that only a court may decide what is just and equitable once a contract is invalidated."

ActionSA has now demanded an investigation in terms of section 171(4) of the Municipal Finance Management Act, disciplinary proceedings and precautionary suspension of the Accounting Officer, as well as preservation of recovery claims so public funds are pursued through the courts.

"Residents deserve leaders who are willing to stand up for them, call out corrupt municipal officials and safeguard public funds that are meant to provide basic services that the residents of Rustenburg so greatly need."

The alleged acts of financial misconduct against Ashmar Khuduge:

Allegation 1:
Misleading council as to the position of the Auditor-General
Allegation 2:
Breaching the duty to advise council honestly and fully
Allegation 3:
Acting unilaterally and substituting his own will for that of council
Allegation 4:
Seeking to prejudice the financial interests of the municipality
Allegation 5:
Acting beyond power: purporting to compromise a constitutional-invalidity remedy reserved to the court.

Meer vrae as antwoorde na Aires opgespoor word

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Na 'n soektog wat die hele dorp in rep en roer gelaat het, is die vermiste Claudio Aires uiteindelik op Vrydag, 3 Julie, veilig teruggevind.

Aires het onder verdagte omstandighede verdwyn vanuit die omgewing van Safarituine op Saterdag, 27 Junie, en gerugte het die rondte gedoen dat hierdie welbekende sakeman moontlik ontvoer is.

Aires se foto en "Vermis"-plakkaat is wyd en syd op sosiale media versprei en die publiek is gevra om die polisie en die familie in hul soektoeg by te staan.

Nadat Aires veilig teruggebring is huis toe, blyk dit dat daar steeds baie onduidelikheid oor sy verdwyning is.

Beide die Suid-Afrikaanse Polisiediens en familielede het die geleentheid om lig op die saak te werp, van die hand gewys en ten tye van ter perse gaan, was daar steeds baie vrae rondom die omstandighede van Aires se verdwying en uiteindelike terugkeer.

Selfs 'n plaaslike sekuriteitsmaatskappy wat nou by die soektog betrokke was, het aan Rustenburg Herald gemeld dat "julle waarskynlik so baie soos ons weet".

Die saak word tans ondersoek.

Insect lovers converge for National Bee Conference

RUSTENBURG HERALD - SUN CITY - The North West Province successfully hosted the National 2026 Bee Conference from 30 June to 1 July, in partnership with the South African Bee Industry Organisation (SABIO).

Held under the theme “Pollinators for food security, economic growth and rural transformation”, the conference brought together emerging and commercial beekeepers from across South Africa, as well as stakeholders from the beekeeping, agricultural and research sectors, who discussed developments, challenges and opportunities within the beekeeping industry.

The event further showcased the province as a promising destination for beekeeping and pollination related investment, that can contribute to industry development, while creating sustainable economic opportunities for communities. Central to the discussions was the critical role of pollinators in supporting crop production, improving agricultural resilience and contributing to food security.

Participants also examined measures required to protect and develop pollinator populations as an important resource within South Africa’s agricultural landscape.

North West beekeepers were among the top performers at the National Honey, Mead and Value-Added Products Competition that recognised excellence in honey production, mead-making and value-added bee products. Among those recognised for excellence were Kenalemang Mooketsi, Gabathata Matshidiso, Thato Lesufi, Peter Mputle, Lukas Radise and Lenah Mosiapoa. Their achievements reflect the growing expertise, innovation and commitment of beekeepers within the province.

Chairperson of the South African Bee Industry Organisation, Tumi Mobu, said that the conference resolutions would be implemented through collaboration between industry stakeholders, government departments and research institutions, including the NW Department of Agriculture and Rural Development and the Agricultural Research Council (ARC).

The North West MEC for Agriculture and Rural Development, Madoda Sambatha, noted that beekeeping presents practical opportunities for young people, women and rural entrepreneurs to participate meaningfully in agriculture. "With the right technical support, mentorship and access to markets, beekeeping provides opportunities to build sustainable enterprises that contribute both to household incomes and to the wider agricultural economy.

Our focus should be on creating an environment where these enterprises can grow into successful businesses that create jobs and invest back into their communities," said Sambatha.

The MEC added that the department would continue working with industry stakeholders, research institutions and beekeepers to support the growth of the sector and create an enabling environment for beekeepers to thrive, expand their operations and build sustainable enterprises.

North West beekeeper, Kenalemang Mooketsi (middle) was among the province’s beekeepers recognised at the National Bee Conference, where she received an award for her contribution to the beekeeping sector. Here she is being congratulated by industry stakeholders.

What started as a mother-son side hustle is now gaining serious traction as a national contender in South Africa’s commercial cleaning space.

At just 25, Gabedi Lesejane is the co-founder and co-director of Gabs and Maps Multi-Purpose, a Rustenburg-based business originally rooted in engineering. Today, however, its fastest-growing division is cleaning. From office parks to malls, Gabs and Maps now delivers full-service hygiene solutions with a strong focus on compliance, professionalism and value for money.

Gabedi co-founded the business with his mother in 2018 while studying mechanical engineering. After graduating and completing the Sibanye-Stillwater Youth in Mining Enterprise and Supplier Development (ESD) programme, he realised just how far they could take the business. With the right tools, training and support, they expanded their offerings, grew their client base and built a team of more than twenty permanent staff.

The company now operates across two Rustenburg sites and is expanding its footprint in Gauteng, with vendor registrations underway for major property and retail players like Growthpoint and Sun International.

SEEING THE OPPORTUNITY IN AN OVERLOOKED INDUSTRY

Gabedi says the decision to focus on cleaning came from recognising the consistent demand and the chance to professionalise a service that is often overlooked. “Cleaning is one of those industries people do not always take seriously, but it is essential. We want to change the narrative. We want to make cleaning professional and even exciting. Our team has more than fifty years of combined experience and we invest in annual upskilling to ensure we stay ahead.”

The shift in focus does not mean engineering has been abandoned. The company is still tendering for several contracts in the mining sector, however, the cleaning division is growing rapidly and has opened doors to new markets. From laundry services to deep cleaning, the goal is to become a holistic cleaning service provider for large organisations.

TRAINING THAT TRANSFORMED THE BUSINESS

Gabedi credits much of his business growth to the Sibanye-Stillwater ESD programme, delivered by Phakamani Impact Capital. “The training helped me understand our value proposition better. It helped us see where we could offer more value in the value chain. I learned how to communicate what we do more clearly, how to present to large clients and how to position our services in line with industry standards,” he says.

Beyond the operations, Gabedi’s personal growth has been equally significant. “I used to struggle with public speaking. I used to stutter. Now I have the confidence to stand up and pitch our services with clarity and pride. The coaching helped me open my mind and realise what we could really achieve. It gave me a vision.”

FROM PERSONAL GROWTH TO NATIONAL AMBITION

In the next five years, he wants to see Gabs and Maps operating nationally with at least one hundred employees, regional operations managers, and a fleet of vehicles to support growth. He also wants to secure ISO certification and continue investing in systems that support quality, safety and compliance.

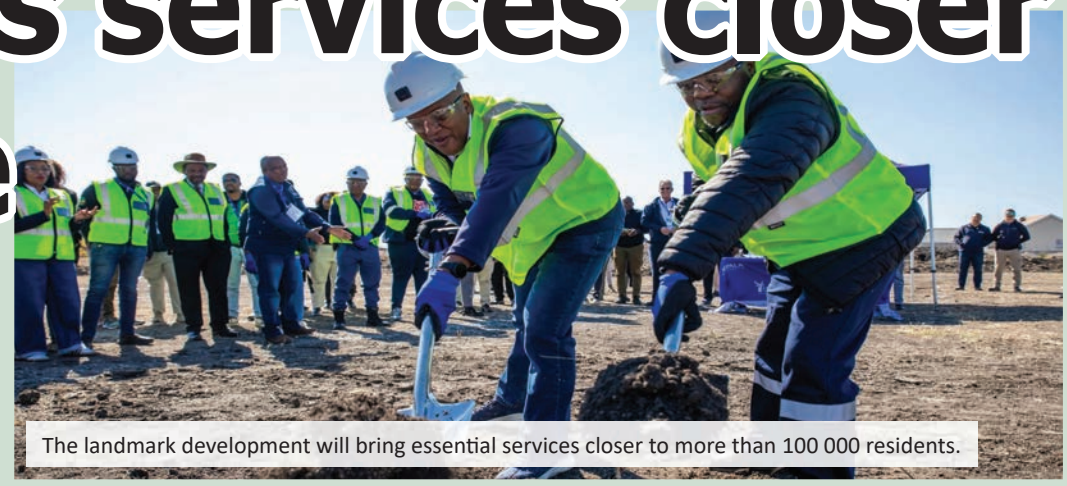

“Our aim is to offer a world-class service, every time. No shortcuts, no paperwork missing. Just professionalism, value and results,” says Gabedi.

From stuttering pitches to confident boardroom presentations, and from a two-person team to a growing workforce, Gabedi’s journey shows what is possible when passion meets hard work.

For good, together

Rustenburg Herald Kook

Deur Marina Scheepers

Marina Scheepers wys vandag vir ons hoe om krakerige varkbuik te maak, wat gaste se monde sal laat water!

Hierdie tyd van die jaar wanneer die koue redelik baie pla, is 'n vleisie op die kole, in die oond of selfs in 'n pan sommer smullekker!

Ons het dus al die pad in Upington gaan draai om 'n heerlike en krakerige varkbuik ("pork belly") met groot flair te kan voorsit.

Dit is 'n ongelooflike gewilde en maklike resep vir bros spekbuik, met 'n heerlike krakerige vel. Deur dit eers stadig te rooster en dan die oond se temperatuur te verhoog, verseker jy sagte vleis en perfekte "crackling". Só maak Marina dit...

'n Vleisie om die koue te verdryf

Bestanddele

1.5 kg varkbuik (pork belly), met die vel aan
15 ml (1 eetlepel) growwe sout
5 ml (1 teelepel) bakpoeier (dit is die geheim vir 'n ekstra bros velletjie!)
15 ml (1 eetlepel) olyfolie
1 teelepel swartpeper
2 uie, in ringe gesny
100 ml water of enige bier - verkieslik met appel basis(vir die pan)

Metode

Voorbereiding van die vel: Sny die varkvel versigtig met 'n baie skerp mes in 'n blokkiespatroon (pasop dat jy nie in die vleis sny nie).

Droog dit uit: Plaas die varkbuik oornag oop in die yskas. Hoe droër die vel, hoe beter sal dit kraak.

Geur die vleis: Voorverhit die oond na 140°C. Vryf die sout en bakpoeier deeglik in die vel in. Vryf die vleiskant (onderkant) in met olie, sout en peper.

Stadige rooster: Plaas die uie onderin 'n oondbak en gooi die vloeistof by. Plaas die varkbuik bo-op die uie. Bak oop vir 2 en 'n half uur, sodat die vleis sag en sappig kan word.

Kry daardie "crackling": Haal die varkbuik uit die oond en stel die oond na 240°C. Plaas die vark terug in die oond en rooster vir 20 tot 30 minute op hoë hitte - totdat die velletjie lekker blasierig en bros is.

Voor jy dit in die oond sit om stadig te rooster, sny die varkvel versigtig met 'n baie skerp mes in 'n blokkiespatroon (pasop dat jy nie in die vleis sny nie).

Kerriekool of 'n aartappelgereg kan met enige vleis bedien word. Dié varkbuik en die kerrie komplimenteer mekaar baie goed. Laat die varkbuik 10 minute rus en bedien dan warm op.

Tshepo Mothobi AKA Mtshepa.

Mtshepa blends lyrics with innovation

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - In a province known for its rich musical heritage, artist Mtshepa is undertaking a journey on which lyricism meets innovation, and where every song carries a message.

Born Tshepo Mothobi in Rustenburg, Mtshepa is a recording artist, songwriter, and producer whose journey began at age 16. While moving between Grenville High School and Tlhabane Technical School, he met a group of young rappers who shared a passion for wordplay and battle rap. The group formed the collective Verbal Smack Down (VSD), a name born from their love for lyrical competition and freestyle battles.

It was within VSD that he honed the storytelling ability and confidence that now define his artistry.

He draws inspiration from everyday experiences, faith, family, and African culture. His sound blends Hip Hop, Amapiano, and Afro-fusion with conscious rap - creating music that encourages reflection, unity, and progress.

One of his standout releases, “Africa, Open Up The Borders” , speaks directly to current conversations around migration, identity, and African unity. Written by Mtshepa, the track was inspired by the deportation of African nationals within South Africa and challenges listeners to envision a continent where people, trade, and culture move more freely across borders.

The production also marks a step into the future. The instrumental and chorus were generated with assistance from Suno, an AI music platform, showcasing his openness to emerging technology while keeping authentic songwriting at the core.

As founder of the Letlotlo brand and label, he uses music as a platform for dialogue and positive change. His mission is clear: to inspire Africa through music, storytelling, innovation, and unity.

With a foundation built on perseverance and African excellence, the talented artist continues to represent Rustenburg on a larger stage - proving that music can connect backgrounds, generations, and ideas.

Rustenburg teen on global stage

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG – Local model, Keatlegile Kutlwano Moeketsi, is rising through the ranks of the modelling world, securing a spot to represent South Africa at the prestigious Miss Teen Icon International pageant.

The global event will take place in Indonesia from 7-13 November.

Keatlegile, who is currently building her career and honing her skills at ACE Models Rustenburg, views this selection as her biggest achievement yet. The international platform will bring together delegates from across the globe, offering a unique opportunity to showcase South African talent, discipline, and confidence.

"This opportunity means a lot because I am not only representing myself, but also my country, my community, and every young girl chasing her goals," Keatlegile shared.

However, competing at an international level comes with significant financial demands. According to pageant organizers, the total estimated cost for the trip is around R80 600, which includes essential expenses such as international flights, registration fees, accommodation, travel insurance, and competition wardrobe. All final fees must be paid in full by the end of September.

Keatlegile and her family are urgently appealing to local businesses, organisations, and individuals for sponsorship and support to help make this dream a reality. In return for financial backing, sponsors will receive valuable publicity and will be prominently tagged and acknowledged across the pageant's national and international social media platforms, including the live finals broadcast on Facebook.

To offer sponsorship, verify details, or provide support, members of the community can contact Keatlegile's mother, Tebogo, directly at 066 482 7275. Alternatively, inquiries can be directed to the National Director of Miss Icon International South Africa, A Kapp, at 082 583 0276.

Model makes positive impact

RUSTENBURG HERALD - MERITING - At just 13 years old, Tlholo Moeng from Meriting, Rustenburg is proving that age is no barrier to leadership, compassion, and creating real change.

The Grade 8 learner at Edu Care Christian Combined School has been named a semi-finalist in the Face of North West Teenager pageant. But for Tlholo, the competition is more than a crown.

She is using the platform to champion a mission close to her heart: supporting children with special needs and families in need.

Her vision is simple yet powerful - to create a world where every child, especially those who are often overlooked, feels loved and seen. That is her motto, and it reflects the core of her advocacy.

Tlholo believes that even the smallest acts of kindness can spark lasting change in communities. “Small steps can lead to big change in our province,” she says.

Already, the young activist is putting her words into action:

1. Meriting Ext 2 Sport Ground. Prepared and served soup at the Rocky Soccer Tournament (16 June 2026)
2. Meriting Ext 2: Donated clothes to families with children aged one to six years.
3. Meriting Ext 4 & 5: Donated clothing to three adult women in one family, sizes 30–34.
4. Bessie Mpelegele Ngwana Centre: Contributed sanitary pads, socks, toothpastes, and toothbrushes.

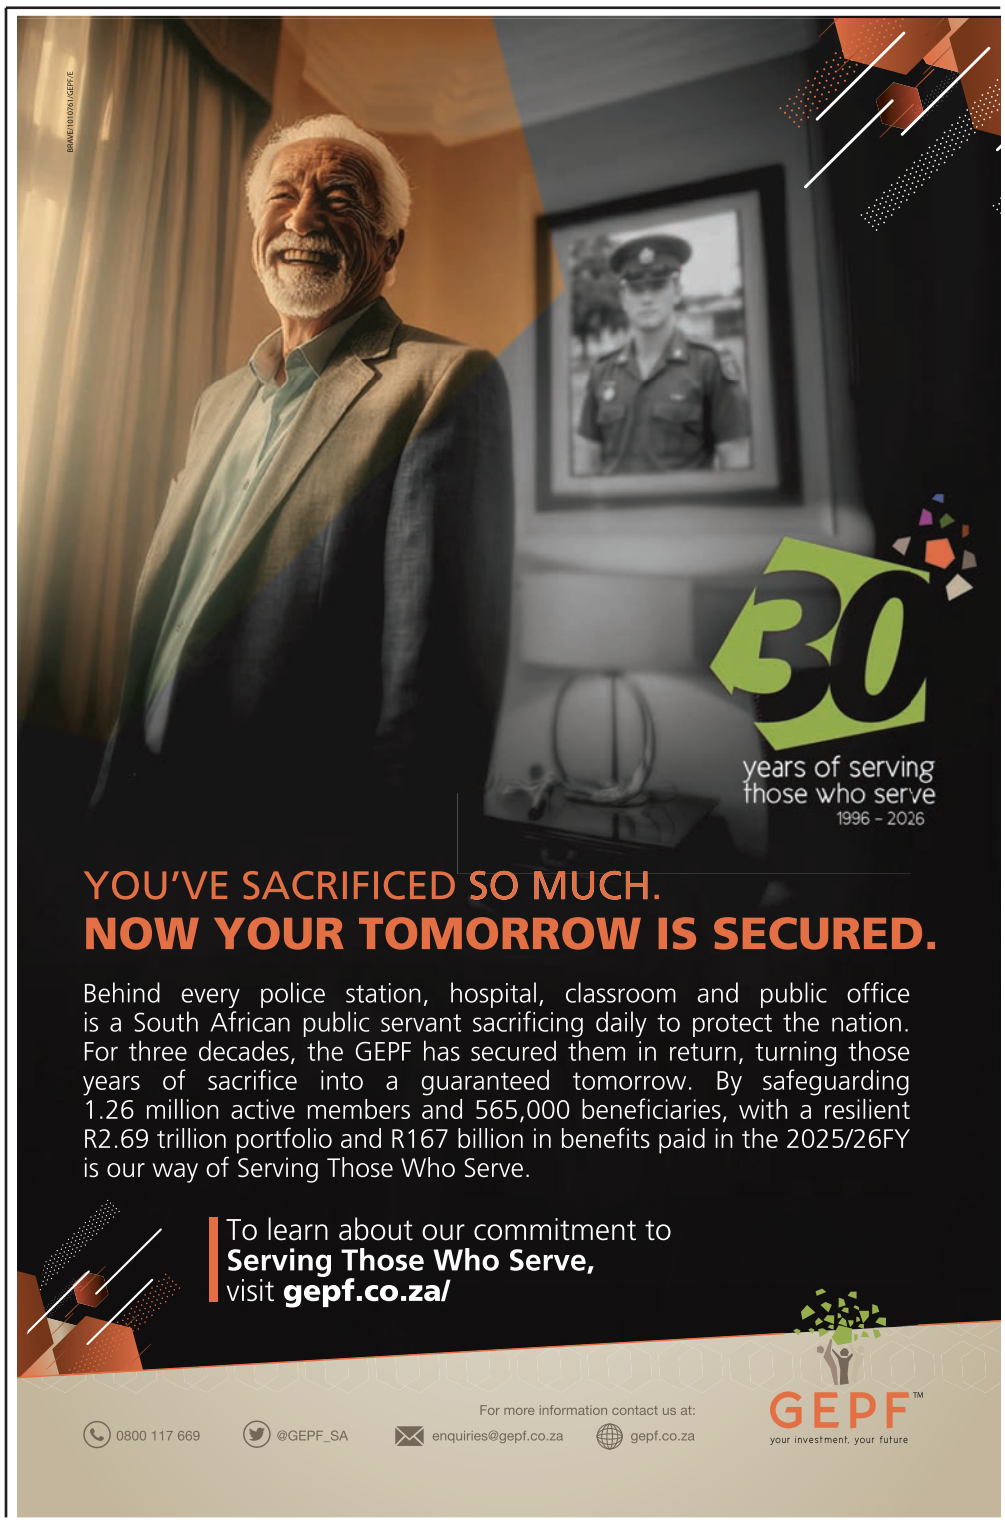

Through her “Small Gesture Projects,” Tlholo is using her voice to advocate for those who feel invisible.

“I want to speak up for children who feel invisible,” Tlholo says.

“At 13, you can still make a huge impact. I want to win so I can start a kindness project for special needs children and needy families,” she concluded.

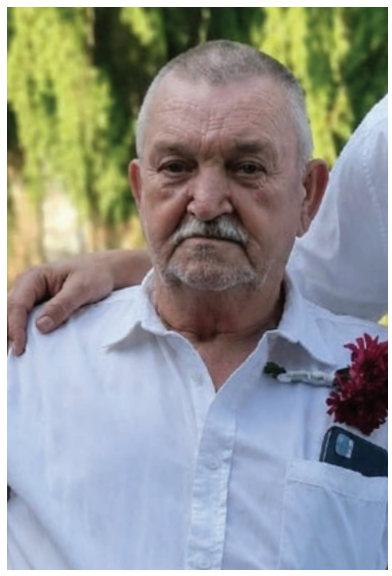

13 years old: Tlholo Moeng from Meriting.

67 Minutes can change a child's journey this Mandela Day

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - This Mandela Day, the Childhood Cancer Foundation (CHOC) is calling on South Africans to turn their 67 minutes into comfort, care and hope for children and teenagers diagnosed with cancer or a life-threatening blood disorder.

Under the campaign message, "For you, it's 67 minutes. For them, it's everything," CHOC is encouraging individuals, schools, businesses and communities to support families facing childhood cancer through meaningful acts of kindness, practical donations and volunteerism. For many CHOC families, the cancer journey extends far beyond hospital walls. Families often travel long distances for treatment, spend weeks away from home, and face emotional and financial strain while trying to care for their children or teenagers.

"Every family's journey through childhood cancer is different, but one thing remains the same, no family should have to walk it alone. Mandela Day reminds us that even the smallest act of kindness can bring comfort and relief during an incredibly difficult time. Whether it is a warm meal, safe accommodation, transport to treatment, or essential daily items, these acts of support help families focus on what matters most: their child's well-being and healing," says chief social worker at CHOC, Lawrence Mbuyane.

Supporters can get involved by donating essential items, supporting CHOC House wishlists, volunteering their time, hosting collection drives, or helping raise awareness around childhood cancer and early warning signs.

"Mandela Day reminds us that even the smallest act of kindness can make a meaningful difference in the life of a child and their family," said Eugene Subban, Chairman of CHOC Childhood Cancer Foundation South Africa. "For many of our families, support means more than practical assistance. It means knowing they are seen, cared for and not facing the childhood cancer journey alone."

Throughout Mandela Month, CHOC regions across South Africa will host various activations, community initiatives and partnership events aimed at mobilising support for children and teenagers affected by childhood cancer. Every meal shared, every donation made, every volunteer hour and every act of support helps create moments of comfort, dignity and hope for CHOC families during incredibly difficult circumstances.

Letters / Briewe

A clear case of vandalised (cut) electricity cables - a sight, which unfortunately, has become a common sight in Rustenburg.

Vandalised infrastructure - reporting process clarified

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing regarding the letter previously issued by Rustenburg Local Municipality advising residents that, in cases of vandalism affecting municipal infrastructure, they should first open a case with SAPS and obtain a case number before the municipality would attend to the matter.

I have raised this issue with both the municipality and Customer Care on numerous occasions. SAPS has confirmed that residents may not open criminal cases on behalf of RLM for vandalism of municipal property. As the owner of the infrastructure, it is the municipality's responsibility to report these incidents.

We are currently facing another incident where a municipal electricity cable was vandalised. The affected residents have been without electricity since 26 June. Despite repeated requests for updates, the only responses received have been that the matter has been "dispatched" and "will be attended to."

Yesterday, the municipal foreman advised residents that they needed to open a SAPS case before repairs could proceed. This morning, Customer Care repeated the same instruction, despite being informed once again that SAPS does not allow residents to open cases on behalf of the municipality. As a result, residents are now entering day seven without electricity.

We therefore request the following: that RLM immediately opens a SAPS case relating to the vandalism of its infrastructure, so that repairs can proceed without further delay, that the municipality issues a formal statement withdrawing its previous instruction requiring residents to open SAPS cases for vandalism of municipal property, and will clearly confirm that the municipality will report such incidents itself and that the municipality explains what measures will be taken to prevent residents from suffering unnecessary delays in future incidents.

The prolonged outage has caused significant hardship for the affected residents. It is concerning that delays continue because of an instruction that SAPS has confirmed cannot legally be carried out by residents.

I would appreciate your urgent response and immediate intervention in this matter.

Kind regards,
Willie Pretorius

Excerpt from WhatsApp conversation with Customer Care:

Willie Pretorius: When will they attend Tuin [Street] vandalised cable?

Customer Care: [For] This complaint, clients were advised to go to police station and have a case number before they get assistance from municipality.

Willie Pretorius: No, RLM needs to go and open a case. The police said that these clients went to open cases and were refused as it's RLM property. If RLM doesn't go and open a case, I will lay charges today at Human rights Commission, Nersa, Health and Safety and Provincial as its the responsibility of RLM to go and open case for vandalism of property.

Infinity makes history at RDL Legacy Cup in Rustenburg

RUSTENBUGR HERALD - RUSTENBURG - Rustenburg was buzzing with soccer action this past week as local teams from across the town battled it out for glory at the RDL Legacy Cup - one of the biggest community tournaments of the year so far.

Teams like RB Leipzig, Golden Boys, Silver Angels, Dreamteam, Infinity FC, MS All Stars, Platinum Village, Real Betis and Royal Foxes were all in attendance. The week-long event brought together clubs from different age groups, with packed sidelines, vuvuzelas, and non-stop drama as young talent impressed.

Infinity Football Club made history by becoming the only club to have all five age groups reach the semi finals. They then went one step further by having four of its age groups reach the finals - a massive achievement that showed the strength of their development.

Infinity battled across three very tense finals in U/9, U/13 and U/15, with all three matches going to penalties. In the end all three teams fell short and had to settle for silver medals. The good news came in the U/11s. Infinity U/11s won the Legacy Cup, bringing home gold medals and the trophy after a brilliant campaign.

Speaking after the tournament, Infinity FC Director Dario Di Cosmo reflected on the week: “We’ve experienced a little bit of heartbreak going to penalty shootouts in three of the divisions, having one hand on the trophy and falling just short to the harsh method of deciding the conclusion of the game. But overall, we couldn’t be more proud of the talent, dedication and hard work being put in by the coaches as well as the players that led to us being the only academy to reach all five semi-finals and four of the finals, with only penalties preventing us from lifting four of the five trophies on the day". Even with the mixed final results, Infinity’s stars were recognised: Thami Zeppe (U/11) was crowned Player of the Tournament, Kuriso Kumbe (U/9) was crowned Player of the Tournament, and Thapelo "Kolas" Seeme (U/15) was crowned Top Goal Scorer of the Tournament. These tree big individual awards for one club summed up Infinity’s impact over the weekend.

Other teams also had a weekend to remember: Silver Angels U/9 and U/15 - Champions, Golden Boys U/17 - Champions, RB Leipzig U/13 - Champions in their first RDL Legacy Cup appearance,. Infinity FC U/11 - Champions.

The RDL Legacy Cup lived up to its name, giving Rustenburg’s grassroots teams a proper stage. From early morning group games at the beginning of the week to tense penalty shootouts in the finals, every match had something on the line. Teams from townships, academies, and schools all got a chance to test themselves against the best in the area. For many players, it was their first taste of a big tournament atmosphere - with trophies, medals, and scouts watching from the stands.

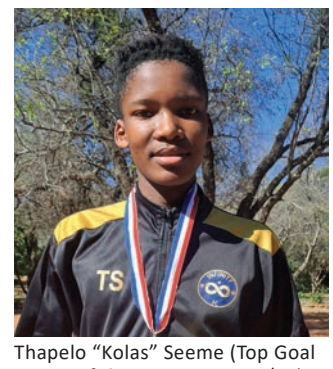

Tournament organisers said the goal was to “celebrate legacy, talent, and community” through soccer - and by the looks of the crowds, they delivered. With Infinity setting the bar with five semis, four finals, one trophy, three silvers and three individual awards, the RDL Legacy Cup is already being called "the tournament to watch" next year. For Rustenburg, it was more than just games - it was a week where local football took centre stage, and the next generation got to compete for glory on home soil.

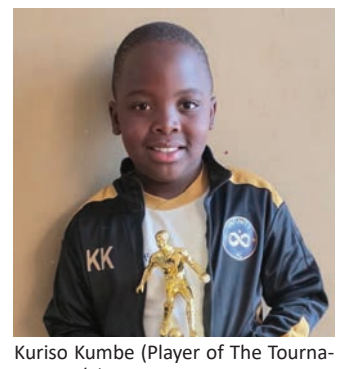

Coach Olefile with his team, Infinity FC U/11 known as Lions, who were the Champions for the U/11 division.

Thami Zeppe (Player of the Tournament U/11).

Thapelo “Kolas” Seeme (Top Goal Scorer of the Tournament U/15).

Kuriso Kumbe (Player of The Tournament U/9).

RUSTENBURG HERALD - RUSTENBURG - The KG Rabada Fast Bowling Academy hosted a bowling clinic at the Berseba Multi-purpose Facility, giving budding pacers from Berseba and the Rustenburg Hub the opportunity to sharpen their skills and learn from experienced cricket coaches.

The clinic brought together learners from schools in both towns as part of the Academy's goal of unearthing the next generation of pace talent.

Founded by Proteas' Kagiso Rabada, the Academy supports young bowlers through development, coaching and training, with each Academy Day covering the technical, tactical, physical and mental aspects of the game.

The clinic builds on the ongoing cricket development programme established through the partnership between Glencore's Rhovan Mine and Bakwena ba Mogopa Traditional Council, as well as Cricket South Africa (CSA).

Since the launch of the Berseba Cricket Programme, the initiative has continued to provide young people with access to structured coaching, quality facilities and opportunities to develop both on and off the field.

"Sport has the power to build confidence, develop discipline and bring communities together. Through our partnership with Cricket South Africa and the Bakwena ba Mogopa Traditional Council, we are committed to creating opportunities that help young people realise their potential. We are pleased to see the Kagiso Rabada Foundation further strengthen this vision by inspiring the next generation of cricketers," said Dunkeld Molapisi, CSI Manager of Glencore Ferroalloys.

His Royal Majesty Kgosikgolo Motheo Mamogale of the Bakwena ba Mogopa Traditional Council welcomed the initiative and its continued investment in the community's youth.

The bowling clinic forms part of ongoing efforts to strengthen cricket development in the area, ensuring that young players have access to the skills, support and opportunities needed to pursue the sport while promoting healthy, active lifestyles.

Bejo informs on seed quality processes

Bejo focuses on agronomy and aims to optimise conditions and practices during seed production to maximise seed quality and yield. This leads to higher-quality seeds that will reduce waste, produce optimal harvests and increase sustainability.

1. POLLINATION

Factors like pollen quality, strict timing of pollination, flower structures and colours, and pollinating insects are all crucial for successful pollination. Bejo conducts research in optimising these factors resulting in high-quality seed.

2. SEED PRODUCTION

To maximise seed quality and yield, Bejo applies treatments to induce earlier flowering of the plant, explore the most optimal harvest moment and post-harvest drying methods, and strictly control seed moisture content.

3. MOLECULAR SEED QUALITY

Each single seed is a complex system of DNA, plant hormones, water, proteins, minerals, carbohydrates etc. All have their impact on seed quality. At Bejo, they develop molecular tools and markers to guide seed production and processing to obtain high quality seed.

4. AI AND MACHINE LEARNING

Bejo provides digital support to facilitate the decision making of colleagues and growers. (For example, to determine timing of actions such as pollination, treatment applications and irrigation.) Drones, climate sensors, computer algorithms, imaging tools and specially equipped cameras are used in this process.

5. EPIDEMIOLOGY OF SEED BORNE DISEASES

Seed borne diseases can result in infected seedlings or plants. Bejo studies disease cycles to prevent seed infection and ensure healthy seeds.

6. SEED HEALTH TESTING

At Bejo, seeds are tested for the presence of seed transmitted diseases, to continually improve and optimise existing techniques and develop new ones. This is not an easy task, since a test needs to be sensitive, specific, reliable, reproducible, repeatable, robust, easy and fast and should detect biologically relevant infections.

7. SEED DISINFECTION

Seeds can be infected by pathogens like fungi, bacteria and viruses, which may result in infected seedlings. Physical seed disinfection techniques like steam vacuum and hot water treatment often rely on heat to kill seed borne pathogens. These are very delicate and precise processes. Bejo has thus developed crop recipes for crop pathogen combinations to ensure healthy and high quality seeds.

8. BENEFICIALS

An integrated pest management approach with beneficials like biopesticides and biostimulants play an increasingly important role in seed production and treatment. It can substitute for the decrease in chemical pesticides available and contribute to more sustainable agriculture. Bejo has been investing their time for more than 20 years in developing alternative treatments that lead to better overall health and improved stress tolerance.

9. STORABILITY, DRYING AND PACKAGING

Seeds start to deteriorate as soon as they are harvested. It is important to maintain high seed quality during distribution, storage, drying and packing of the seed. Bejo conducts research on factors that influence seed shelf life (like temperature, humidity and oxygen) and explore methods for predicting seed ageing to support seed stock management.

10. SEED ENHANCEMENT

High quality seeds can be enhanced to improve seed performance and sowability. It especially enables the seed to perform better under stressful conditions. Examples are priming B-Mox®, coating and encrustment.

11. SEED TESTING AND UPGRADING

Ensuring Bejo seed quality requires development of tests and procedures to measure, predict and improve seed performance. Bejo develops reliable repeatable tests, combines results to predict ability of seeds to establish a good plant and explores how seed volume and dimensions shape seed quality.

12. LIFE CYCLE MANAGEMENT

Bejo also tries to find methods to control and accelerate plant development in order to accelerate the introduction of new varieties. Think of synchronising flowering of male and female plants to improve seed production.

Die geelwortelboom

’n Merkwaardige inheemse boom met ’n ryk medisinale erfenis

Steganotaenia araliacea var araliceae.

Naas Grové

AGRI-PULSE – RUSTENBURG - Onder die merkwaardige inheemse bome van Suider-Afrika is daar min wat so besonders — en so interessant — is soos Steganotaenia araliacea var. araliacea, beter bekend as die geelwortelboom of carrot tree. Getrou aan sy volksnaam gee elke deel van die boom ’n kenmerkende wortelgeur af wanneer dit gekneus word, iets wat hom onmiddellik van die meeste ander inheemse boomspesies onderskei.

Met die eerste oogopslag lyk die geelwortelboom skaars verwant aan wortels, seldery of pietersielie. Tog behoort dit aan die Apiaceae, oftewel die wortelfamilie - ’n plantfamilie wat veel beter bekend is vir kruie en groentes as vir bome. Die opvallende sambreelvormige saamgestelde kerns verskyn gewoonlik voor die nuwe blare, wat ’n tipiese kenmerk is van hierdie boom.

Die Apiaceae is goed verteenwoordig in Suider-Afrika, met ongeveer 48 genera en sowat 240 spesies wat in die streek voorkom. Bekende lede sluit onder meer wildepietersielie (Peucedanum), wilde seldery (Apium), waternavel (Centella), pietersieliebome (Heteromorpha) en die berugte giftige kerwel (Conium) in - vir ewig verbind met die teregstelling van Sokrates. Ten spyte van hierdie diversiteit bereik slegs vier genera in die familie werklik boomgrootte in Suider-Afrika, wat die geelwortelboom ’n besonder noemenswaardige lid van die inheemse flora maak.

Die oorsprong van die botaniese naam Steganotaenia is ietwat onduidelik en is afgelei van Griekse woorde wat verband hou met “bedek”, “oorkap” of “dak”, saam met “lint”. Die spesienaam araliacea verwys waarskynlik na ’n ooreenkoms met Aralia, ’n groep struike en bome wat verwant is aan die ginsengfamilie.

Gehard, elegant en aanpasbaar

Die geelwortelboom is ’n klein bladwisselende spesie wat natuurlik aangepas is vir droogte-toestande, hoewel dit ook goed groei in gebiede met hoër reënval, mits die dreinering goed is. Die stam is bedek met geelgroen tot grysgroen kurkagtige bas wat in papieragtige repe afskilfer en ouer bome besondere karakter gee.

Die vars groen blare is naby die punte van die takke saamgedrom en het skerp getande blaarande, met elke tand wat eindig in ’n fyn haaragtige punt. Nog voordat nuwe blare verskyn, ontwikkel afgeronde blomskerms vanaf laat winter tot lente, gewoonlik tussen Augustus en November.

Die boom se unieke vorm, tekstuurryke bas en fyn loof maak dit ’n aantreklike keuse vir inheemse tuine en waterwyse landskappe.

Antieke kennis en moderne wetenskap

Benewens sy ornamentele waarde het die geelwortelboom ’n lang geskiedenis van tradisionele medisinale gebruik regoor Afrika. Verskillende dele van die plant is gebruik vir die behandeling van onder meer diabetes, slangbyt, asma, seer keel, maag- en buikpyn, bilharzia en verskeie infeksies. In sommige tradisionele gebruike is ekstrakte van die plant ook vir veeartsenykundige doeleindes aangewend. In die Kaokoveld, Namibië, dien die reguit stingels as heilige vuurstokkies.

Die belangrikheid van medisinale plante in die geskiedenis van die mensdom kan kwalik oorskat word. Selfs vandag word ongeveer 25% van voorgeskrewe medisyne wêreldwyd direk of indirek van plante afgelei. Bekende voorbeelde sluit digoksien uit vingerhoedblom, kinien uit die bas van die genus Cinchona, atropien uit belladonna en verbindings afkomstig van die opiumpapawer in.

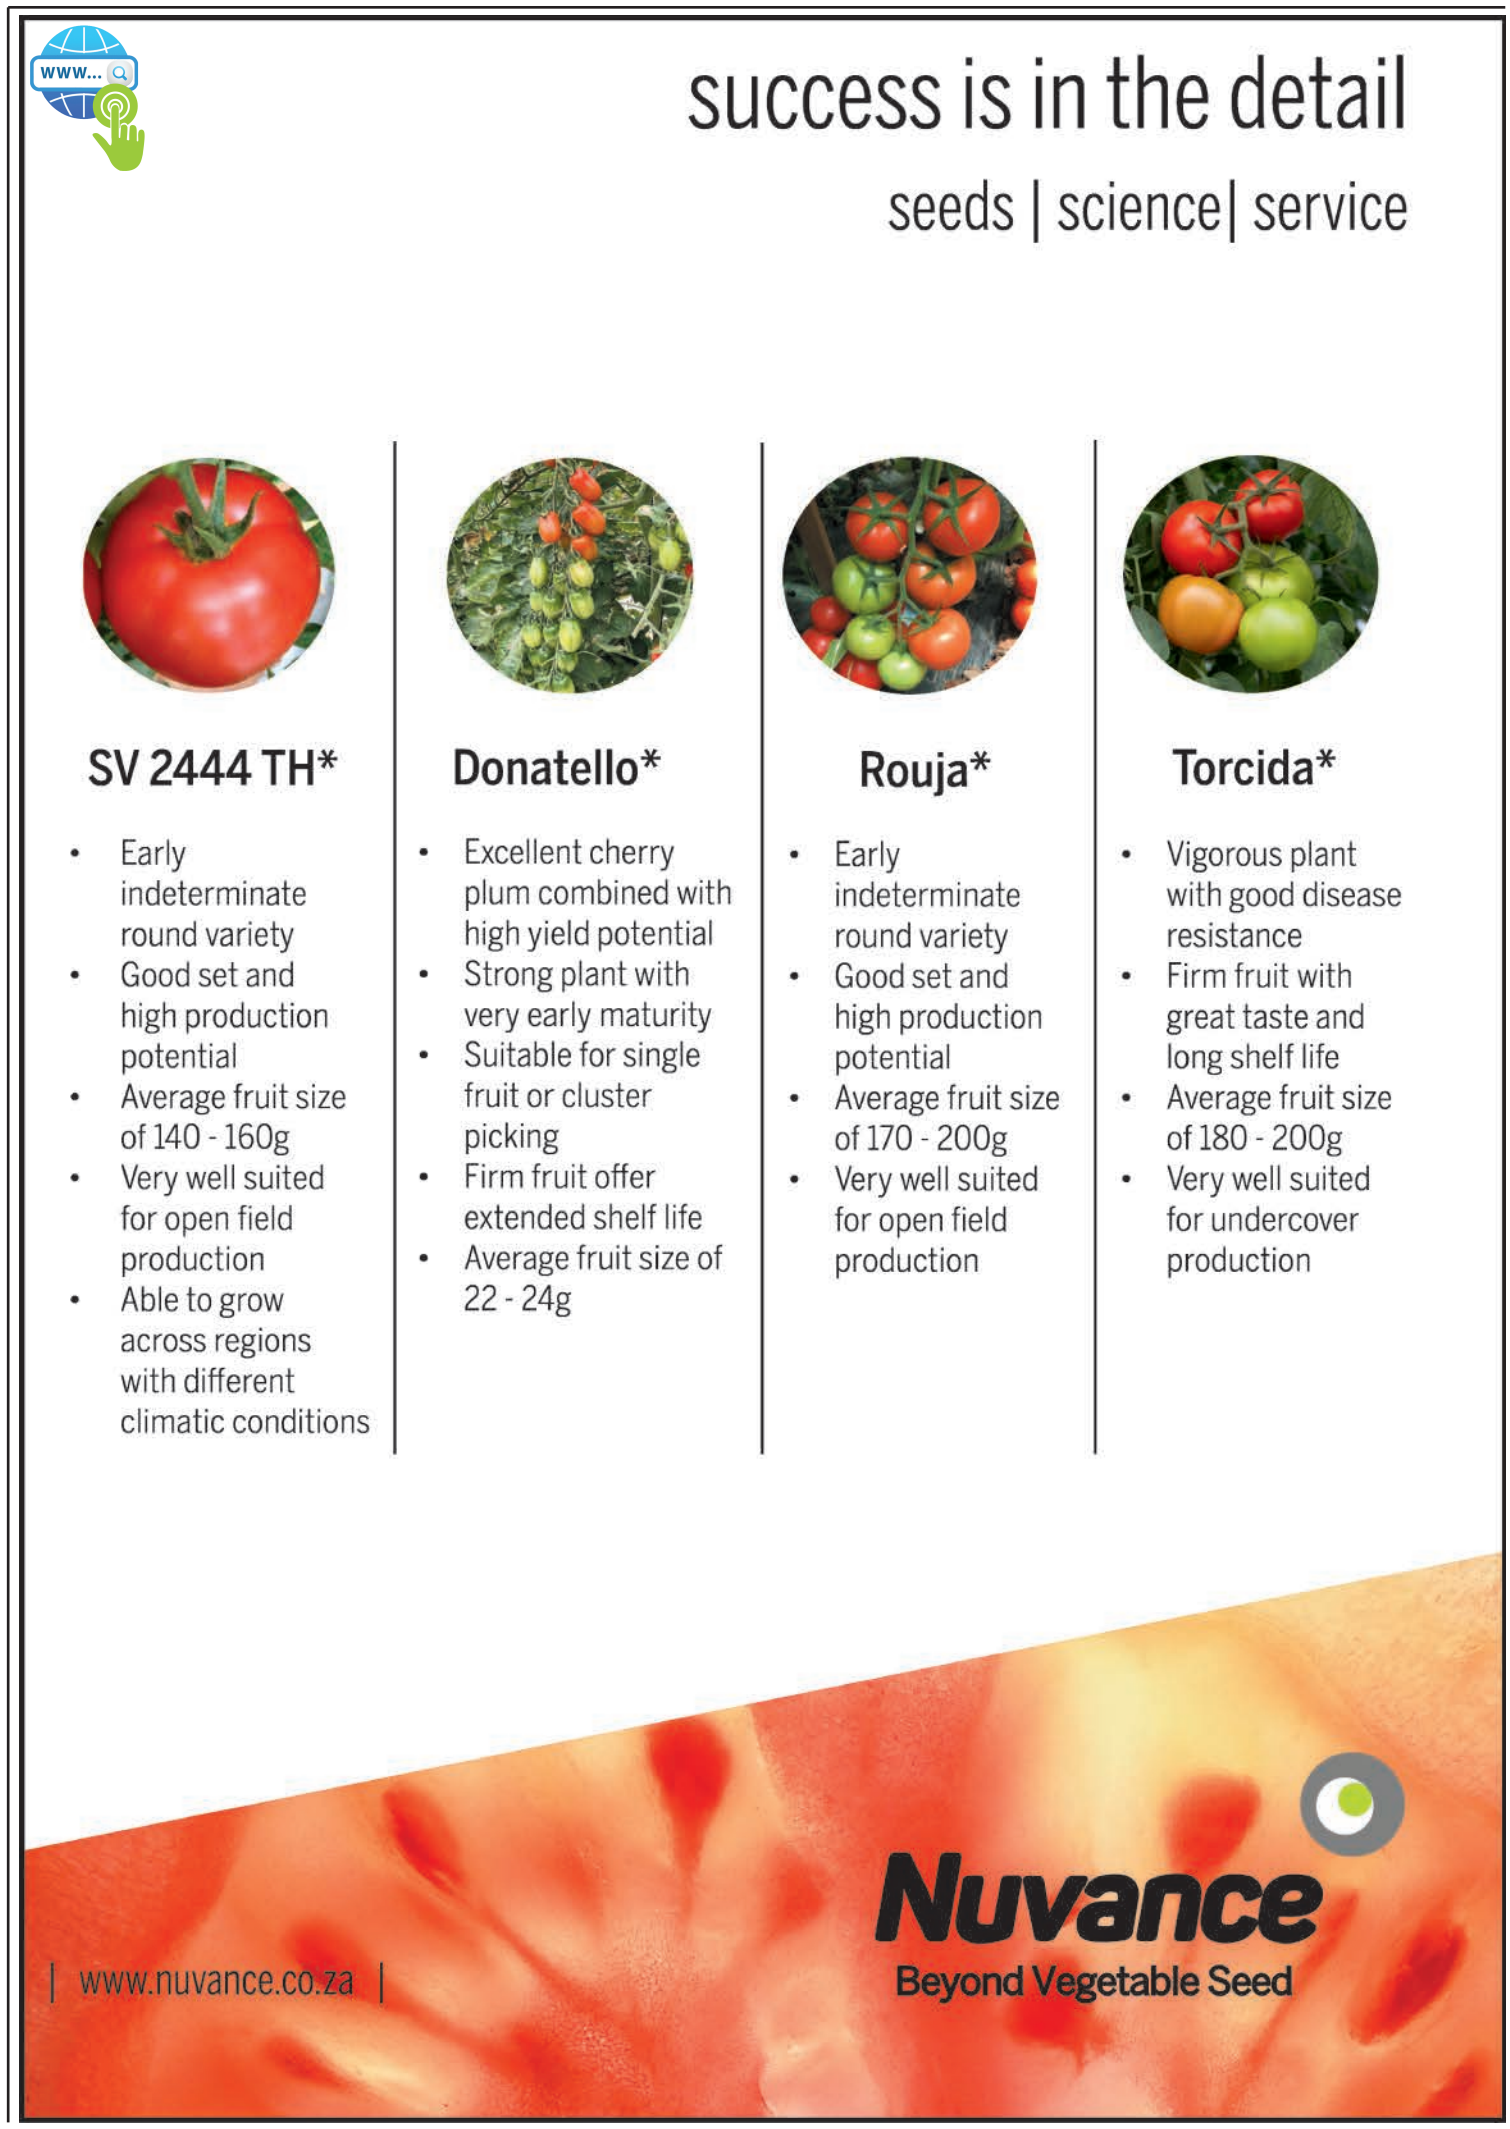

Die geelwortelboom vorm deel van hierdie groter verhouding tussen mense en plante - ’n verhouding waar tradisionele kennis dikwels wetenskaplike ontdekking voorafgaan.

Moderne sifting van Steganotaenia araliacea het die teenwoordigheid van tanniene, flavonoïede, hars en saponiene bevestig. Ekstrakte van die plant het antibakteriese, antioksidant-, insekwerende en diuretiese eienskappe getoon, wat wetenskaplike ondersteuning bied vir sommige van die tradisionele medisinale gebruike daarvan.

Meer as net ’n boom om te bewaar

Die geelwortelboom is veel meer as bloot ’n aantreklike inheemse boomspesie. Dit verteenwoordig die kruispunt tussen ekologie, kultuur, medisyne en wetenskap. In ’n wêreld waar biodiversiteitsverlies steeds versnel, herinner spesies soos Steganotaenia araliacea ons daaraan dat Suid-Afrika se inheemse flora nie net natuurskoon bevat nie, maar ook geslagte se tradisionele kennis en onontginde wetenskaplike potensiaal.

Om inheemse bome te bewaar gaan daarom nie bloot oor die beskerming van landskappe nie - dit gaan ook oor die bewaring van stories, erfenis en geleenthede vir toekomstige ontdekkings.

Deelnemers kon tyd in die wingerd deurbring waar informele tegniese gesprekke plaasgevind het.

Raisins SA se velddae bring waardevolle kennis na produksiegebiede

AGRI-PULSE – UPINGTON - Raisins SA het onlangs vier suksesvolle velddae in die belangrikste produksiegebiede aangebied. Die geleenthede het produsente, tegniese adviseurs en bedryfvennote bymekaar gebring om praktiese uitdagings en oplossings in die wingerd te bespreek.

Die velddae is moontlik gemaak deur die ondersteuning van Eco-Green, ’n maatskappy wat fokus op plantvoeding, biostimulante, grondverbetering en volhoubare landbou-oplossings wat nie net op organiese produkte gefokus is nie.

ICA, ’n verskaffer van gewasbeskermings- en plantvoedingsoplossings, het die deelname van Kobus Hartman moontlik gemaak. Hy het verduidelik dat donsskimmelspore tot ses jaar dormant in die grond kan bly en onder gunstige toestande weer infeksies kan veroorsaak. Voorkomende beheer bly daarom noodsaaklik, aangesien die siekte moeilik beheerbaar raak sodra dit gevestig is.

Produsente is herinner aan die 10:10:24-reël (10 mm reën, 10°C vir 24 uur) as aanduiding van moontlike infeksie.

Gereelde monitering van weerstoestande en tydige voorkomende bespuitings is as sleutels tot suksesvolle beheer beklemtoon.

Kobus het ook die toenemende belang van maksimum residulimiete (MRL’s) bespreek, veral met betrekking tot marktoegang in Europa. Raisins SA beoog om ’n insetwerkgroep saam te stel wat sal fokus op die ontwikkeling van ‘n aanbevole program van aktiewes.

Hoewel ‘n enkele produsent se rosyne slegs drie of vier meetbare residue bevat, word rosyne van verskeie produsente saamgevoeg tydens verpakking. Dus bevat die eindproduk aansienlik hoër aantal residue.

Deur groter samewerking en meer gestandaardiseerde gewasbeskermingsprogramme na te streef, kan die bedryf die totale residuprofiel van Suid-Afrikaanse rosyne verminder, wat ‘n mededingende voordeel in internasionale markte kan skep en marktoegang verder versterk.

Benewens die formele aanbieding het deelnemers tyd in die wingerd deurgebring waar informele tegniese gesprekke plaasgevind het.

Onderwerpe soos wortelontwikkeling, spruitprogramme, voedingstrategieë, nutriëntbestuur en algemene produksie-uitdagings is in die praktyk bespreek.

Waarnemings uit verskillende besproeiingsbenaderings proewe, asook die impak daarvan op wingerdgroei, watergebruik en grondkwaliteit is bespreek.

Hierdie gesprekke het waardevolle kennisuitruiling tussen produsente en kundiges moontlik gemaak.

Wildbedryf-reuse span saam vir historiese ‘Tiende’ Platinum-veiling

Piet du Toit, Pieter Ernst Snr en Pieter Ernst Jnr.

AGRI-PULSE - NOORDWES - Die Suid-Afrikaanse wildbedryf berei voor vir een van die mees betekenisvolle gebeurtenisse op die 2027-kalender.

Twee van die land se mees prominente wildtelers, Bona Bona Wild en Piet du Toit Wildbedryf, het aangekondig dat hulle kragte saamsnoer om “Die Tiende Platinum Veiling” aan te bied. Hierdie geskiedkundige vennootskap, wat op 13 Maart 2027, plaasvind, merk die eerste keer dat dié twee bedryfsreuse as amptelike vennote optree. Die veiling is nie net ’n sakegeleentheid nie, maar ook ’n emosionele mylpaal. Dit word gehou ter ere van die bekende Pieter Ernst, wat volgende jaar sy 80ste lewensjaar vier. Die samewerking tussen Bona Bona en Piet du Toit simboliseer ’n gedeelde visie om die absolute beste genetika wat Suid-Afrika bied, onder een dak bymekaar te bring.

Na nege uiters suksesvolle vorige Platinum-veilings, het hierdie tiende aflewering reeds die aandag van telers van regoor die land getrek.

Volgens die organiseerders is die doel om ’n mark te skep waar top-gehalte wild en ongekende genetiese lyne toeganklik is vir ernstige kopers. Daar word verwag dat kopers en wild-entoesiaste van heinde en verre na die Noordwes-provinsie sal reis, nie net vir die diere nie, maar vir die unieke atmosfeer wat die Platinum-handelsmerk gevestig het. Bona Bona Wild is bekend vir hul gasvryheid, en die 2027-veiling beloof om die bekende familie-atmosfeer en kameraderie voort te sit waarvoor die Ernst- en Du Toit-families gerespekteer word. Die geleentheid word beskryf as ‘n viering van die Suid-Afrikaanse wildbedryf en die passie van die mense wat dit dryf. Met die kombinasie van Piet du Toit se wêreldklas-genetika en Bona Bona se gevestigde platform, word daar verwag dat hierdie veiling nuwe rekords en standaarde vir die bedryf sal stel.

Bona Bona is geleë op die N12 tussen Klerksdorp en Wolmaransstad.

Unlocking youth potential in agriculture

AGRI-PULSE – NORTH WEST - While agriculture remains one of the country’s most critical yet under-utilised sectors for job creation, entrepreneurship and long term economic inclusion, young people continue to enter the farming industry at far lower rates than required to secure the future of national food production and rural development.

This is despite South Africa’s youth facing the urgent and persistent challenge of high unemployment and limited access to sustainable economic opportunities. Youth unemployment in South Africa remains one of the most pressing socioeconomic crises, with the official unemployment rate for young people (aged 15-34) sitting above 45%, while the staggering jobless rate for the youngest demographic (aged 15-24) is approximately 61%. Acting CEO of Land Bank, Jabu Mphambo, says the sector cannot thrive without the energy, innovation and ambition of young people. For many young people, the path into agriculture is blocked long before it begins. Access to land remains one of the most significant obstacles. Without secure access to productive land, aspiring young farmers cannot establish or scale viable operations, regardless of their passion or potential.

Mphambo notes that access to finance is another major challenge. Starting or expanding an agricultural enterprise requires capital for inputs, equipment, infrastructure and technology - resources that many young entrepreneurs simply do not have. Traditional financing models often exclude young people who lack collateral, credit history, or generational assets. He adds that skills development and mentorship gaps further limit youth participation. Many young South Africans have limited exposure to agriculture as a career, lack practical training opportunities, or do not have access to experienced mentors who can guide them through the complexities of running an agricultural business. To demonstrate what is possible when young people receive the right support, Mphambo notes that Motlalepule Vincent Masiu is a good example of a young person who has built a successful career in agriculture. His story reflects both the challenges young farmers face and the transformative impact of mentorship, financial discipline and developmental support.

The Land Bank-funded farmer states: “One of the biggest lessons I learned is that farming is not just about producing crops or livestock – it’s about managing a business. Cash flow is more important than net worth because assets alone do not keep operations running… Build the farm but also build the person running it.”

His experience illustrates the importance of holistic support, including financial, technical and personal, in shaping successful young farmers.

So by my kool...

Kool was al baie dinge, maar vir miljoene Suid-Afrikaners is dit egter ‘n daaglikse stapelvoedsel wat vullend, propvol voedingstowwe en bekostigbaar is. Kool is nie net nog ‘n groente nie, maar ‘n lae-kalorie-voedsel ryk aan vitamiene C en K, vesel, antioksidante en minerale.

Dit is ‘n stapelvoedsel in Afrika-diëte, bekend vir sy bekostigbaarheid, voedingswaarde en aanpasbaarheid by verskeie kookmetodes. Dit word geïntegreer in beide alledaagse maaltye en spesiale geleenthede, wat ‘n heerlike en voedsame flair aan enige maaltyd bied.

Kool pas by enige soort vleis en vandag kombineer Upington se Marina Scheepers, ‘n tradisionele Afrika-koolgereg met ‘n krakerige spekbuik. Dit is ‘n ongelooflike gewilde en maklike resep vir bros spekbuik (pork belly) met ‘n heerlike krakerige vel. Deur dit eers stadig te rooster en dan die oond se temperatuur te verhoog, verseker jy sagte vleis en perfekte “crackling”.

Hierdie eenvoudige kerriekool- en aartappelgereg kan met enige vleis bedien word. Ons vind dat vark die kerrie goed komplimenteer. Laat jou varkbuik 10 minute rus en bedien dan warm op.

Bestanddele
1.5 kg varkbuik (pork belly), met die vel aan
15 ml (1 eetlepel) growwe sout
5 ml (1 teelepel) bakpoeier (dit is die geheim vir ‘n ekstra bros velletjie!)
15 ml (1 eetlepel) olyfolie
1 teelepel swartpeper
2 uie, in ringe gesny
100 ml water of enige bier - verkieslik met appel basis(vir die pan)

Metode
Voorbereiding van die vel: Sny die varkvel versigtig met ‘n baie skerp mes in ‘n blokkiespatroon (pasop dat jy nie in die vleis sny nie).
Droog dit uit: Plaas die varkbuik oornag oop in die yskas. Hoe droër die vel, hoe beter sal dit kraak.
Geur die vleis: Voorverhit die oond na 140°C. Vryf die sout en bakpoeier deeglik in die vel in. Vryf die vleiskant (onderkant) in met olie, sout en peper.
Stadige rooster: Plaas die uie onderin ‘n oondbak en gooi die vloeistof by. Plaas die varkbuik bo-op die uie. Bak oop vir 2 en ‘n half uur, sodat die vleis sag en sappig kan word.
Kry daardie “crackling”: Haal die varkbuik uit die oond en stel die oond na 240°C. Plaas die vark terug in die oond en rooster vir 20 tot 30 minute op hoë hitte - totdat die velletjie lekker blasierig en bros is.
Laat rus: Haal uit, laat dit vir 10 minute rus voor jy dit sny, en geniet!

Voor jy dit in die oond sit om stadig te rooster, sny die varkvel versigtig met ‘n baie skerp mes in ‘n blokkiespatroon (pasop dat jy nie in die vleis sny nie).

Terwyl die varkbuik sy ding in die oond doen, kan jy jou eenvoudige Suid-Afrikaanse kerriekool en aartappels maak vir ‘n bygereg. Hierdie eenvoudige kerriekool- en aartappelgereg (dikwels gestoofde kool genoem) is ‘n stewige, begrotingsvriendelike stapelvoedsel. Dit pas pragtig by varsgemaakte roti, warm wit rys of selfs braaivleis en veral vark.

Bestanddele
1/2 medium kool, gesnipper
2 groot wortels in blokkies gesny
2 groot aartappels, geskil en in blokkies gesny
‘n Handvol klein tamaties (opsioneel)
1 groot ui, fyn gekap
2 teelepels kerriepoeier (pas aan volgens jou hittevoorkeur)
1 teelepel borriepoeier
2 eetlepels kookolie
1 teelepel gekapte knoffel en/of gemmer (of 1/2 teelepel van ‘n gemengde pasta)
1/4 koppie water (of net genoeg om te verhoed dat dit vassit)
Sout en swartpeper, na smaak

Die sukses van jou dis lê in die regte kombinasie speserye: kerriepoeier, borriepoeier; gekapte knoffel en/of gemmer (of 1/2 teelepel van ‘n gemengde pasta) en sout en peper.

Sny jou wortels, uie, aartappels en kool lekker fyn. ‘n Paar klein tamaties gee ekstra tekstuur en bietjie suurheid.

Metode
Soteer die aromas: Verhit die olie in ‘n groot pot of swaarboompan oor medium hitte. Voeg die gekapte ui by en kook tot sag en deurskynend.
Voeg die speserye by: Roer die kerriepoeier, borrie en knoffel/gemmer by. Laat dit vir ongeveer 1 minuut in die olie rooster totdat dit baie geurig is, en wees versigtig om dit nie te brand nie.
Voeg die aartappels by: Voeg die blokkies aartappels en wortels by die pot en roer goed om hulle met die gekruide olie te bedek. Voeg ‘n klein bietjie water by (ongeveer 1/4 koppie), bedek die pot en laat dit vir ongeveer 5 tot 7 minute stoom.
Voeg die kool by: Roer die gesnipperde kool by. Geur ruim met sout en swartpeper.
Prut tot sag: Bedek die pot, verlaag die hitte effens en laat die mengsel saam stoom. Roer af en toe om te verhoed dat dit vassit, voeg lepelsvol water by indien nodig. Kook vir ongeveer 10–15 minute totdat beide die aartappels en kool sag is.
Bedien: Sodra dit sag is, proe om die sout aan te pas, roer goed deur en bedien warm.

Wanneer die blokkies aartappels en wortels amper sag is, voeg jou kool by en roer af en toe om te verhoed dat dit vassit, voeg lepelsvol water by indien nodig.

AgTech@NWK se splinternuwe tegnologiesentrum.

Grootste DJI-hommeltuig-werkswinkel in die land

AGRI-PULSE – LICHTENBURG - AgTech@NWK het onlangs 'n splinternuwe tegnologiesentrum, wat onder andere die grootste DJI-hommeltuigwerkswinkel van sy soort in Suid-Afrika huisves, geopen. Landswye diens word aangebied.

Die tegnologiesentrum bestaan uit AgTech@NWK Expert wat spesialiseer in presisietoerusting, asook AgTech@NWK wat landboukundige hommeltuie en toebehore bied. Die sentrum bied dus 'n een-stop oplossing vir produsente se tegnies-landboukundige behoeftes.

Die aankoop en diens van hommeltuie het die afgelope jaar uit sy nate gebars. AgTech roem hulself daarop dat hulle die beste diens in die land lewer en wil graag die belofte gestand doen.

Voorts maak hulle grondkundiges aanbevelings aan kliënte oor byvoorbeeld variërende kalkstrooing en kan dan hierdie kliënte help om die kaarte in die regte formaat op hulle trekkers in te lees. Dit is 'n voortvloeisel van die diens wat landboukundiges reeds bied.

Die tegnologie wat hommeltuie en presisie-toerusting inspan oorvleuel grootliks en baie van die prosedures in die werkswinkel is ook dieselfde. Deur dit saam te smelt vorm dit 'n homogene werkswinkel wat albei kante kan diens.

Die nuwe werkswinkel is volledig toegerus met onderdele en toebehore van CNH en Raven vir stropers, strooiers, hoogloopspuite, ens. Die nuwe FleetPro-reeks is die eerste kostedoeltreffende stuursisteem in die land wat reg funksioneer en klante is hoogs tevrede. Tot agt hommeltuie kan per dag gediens word.

Deur opleiding te sentraliseer, word verseker dat tegnici wat by bedryfspunte ontplooi word, dieselfde tegnieke toepas en aan dieselfde standaarde voldoen.

Daar is danksy die werkswinkels se samesmelting ses nuwe leerlingwerktuigkundiges aangestel wat in beide hommeltuie en presisietoerusting opgelei word.

Hoewel die T100 die "hoofseun" in die DJI Agras-stal bly, bied die T70 'n meer bekostigbare, praktiese opsie vir kleiner boerderybedrywe of kontrakteurs.

Die nuwe DJI Agras T70 is ook amptelik bekendgestel,w wat die nuutste generasie landbouhommeltuig ontwerp vir presisie, doeltreffendheid en veelsydigheid in die moderne boerdery. Dit is toegerus met 'n 70 liter tenk en beskik oor 70 kg drakapasiteit. Die T70 is baie ligter en beskik ook oor 'n D-RTK2-sisteem wat presisie tot en met 10 cm akkuraat maak. Sy veiligheidsisteem, bestaande uit verkykers en radar, vermy moeilike terreine en sy nagvisie maak hom uniek.

ZZ2 kwaliteit tamaties van Mooketsi tot Brits

AGRI-PULSE – BRITS – Die grootste tamatie-produsent in die suidelike halfrond, die ZZ2 groep maatskappye, met die hoofkwartier in die klein plattelandse dorpie Mooketsi in Limpopo, verskaf nie net hul gesogte tamaties en ander produkte regoor die Noordwes Provinsie nie, maar ook regoor Suid-Afrika, sowel as internasionaal.

Die ikoniese geel verpakkingsbokse met die vet rooi ZZ2-logo is ‘n bekende gesig op die varsproduktemark en in baie vars groentewinkels, soos Green Grace in Brits, Noordwes.

Ná die Anglo-Boereoorlog is dié ikoniese ZZ2-handelsmerk geskep en is steeds op elke produk wat die familie vandag produseer. In 1903 het die Britte nuwe boerderyregulasies ingestel wat boere gedwing het om hul vee met ‘n regerings-geregistreerde nommer te merk. Burt van Zyl, die destydse familiehoof, is die kode ZZ2 toegeken om sy vee te merk.

Die volgende eeu sou sien hoe sy afstammelinge dié vee-kode in ‘n landbou-kragbron omskep. Burt se kleinseun, Bertie van Zyl, was die meesterbrein agter die moderne ZZ2-reus, wat ‘n familieplaas in ‘n multimiljardrand-onderneming omskep het.

ZZ2 boer hoofsaaklik in die Limpopo Provinsie waar die gesogte tamaties en avokado’s verbou word, maar ZZ2 is ook in die Wes-Kaap, Oos-Kaap, Gauteng, Noordwes, Mpumalanga en Namibië bedrywig.

Mango’s, uie, dadels, kersies, appels, pere, steenvrugte en amandels word ook deur die groep verbou.

Hulle verskaf jaarliks ongeveer 190 000 ton tamaties en het meer as 10 000 werknemers oor die nege plase in Suid-Afrika.

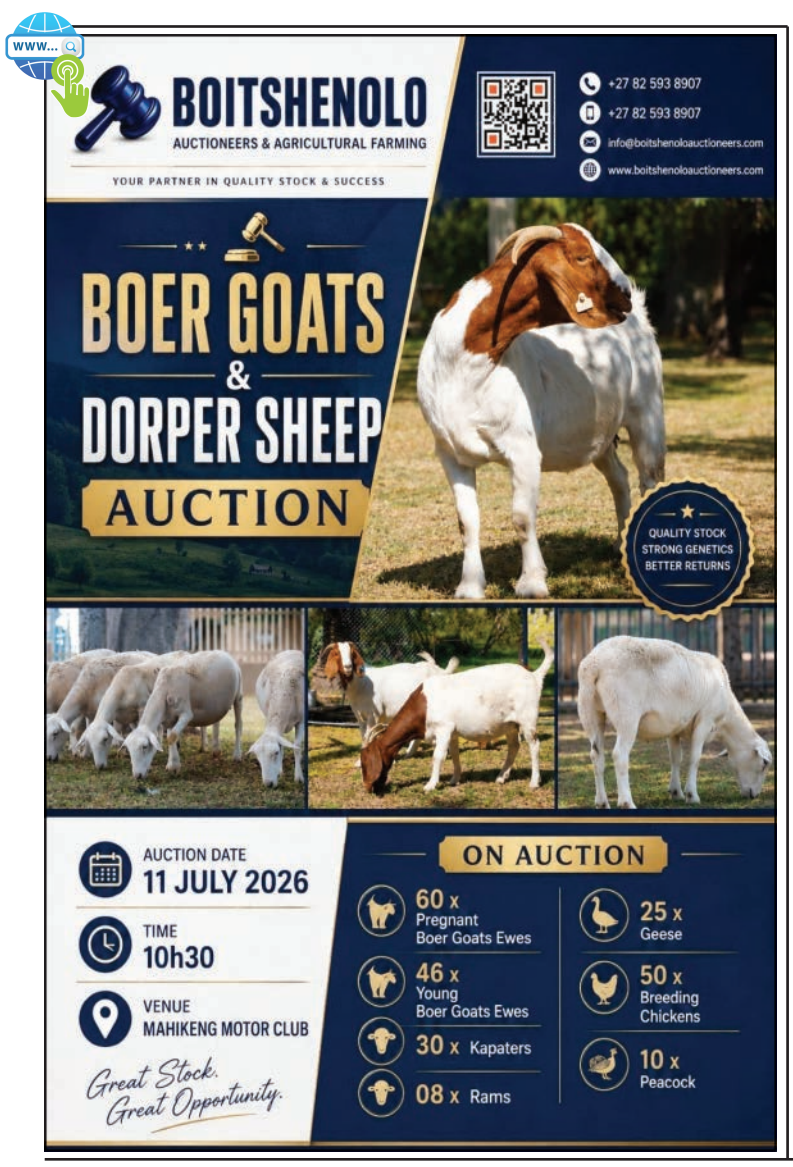

Meer as twee dekades gelede het ZZ2 wegbeweeg van konvensionele, industriële landbou na ‘n stelsel wat daarop gemik is om in harmonie met die natuur te boer, dit is Natuurboerdery® genoem.

Natuurboerdery® is boerdery met bewustheid en sensitiwiteit teenoor die steeds veranderende natuurlike en menslike omgewing en om met die beste doeltreffendheid by hierdie verandering aan te pas, om relevant te bly en te floreer.

Vandag is ZZ2 ‘n landboureus, maar bly bekend vir tamaties, alhoewel daar aansienlik uitgebrei is, om die risiko van misoes as gevolg van veranderende klimaatstoestande te beperk.

Stella van Vuuren, eienaar van Green Grace groentewinkel in Brits, verkoop slegs ZZ2-tamaties, omdat die kwaliteit en gehalte uitstaande is. Ter ere van hul Selobedu-erfenis is die Sepedi/Noord-Sotho-frase Ke Tswa Tsweo by ZZ2 se ikoniese geel, groen en rooi logo gevoeg - en dit beteken letterlik “dis dit!” ZZ2 is bedagsaam teenoor die omgewing en belanghebbendes. Hulle glo in billikheid en integriteit en werk met vasberadenheid en volharding - dis dit, Ke Tzwa Tzweo!

How to produce the ideal weaner calf

AGRI-PULSE – NORTH WEST - According to Jaco Liebenberg, Technical Manager Feedlot & Farms at Beefmaster Group, understanding what buyers look for in weaner calves, can help farmers make decisions that add value long before a calf enters the feedlot.

“The ideal calf ensures maximum profit per hectare for the farmer, while maintaining top performance in the feedlot.”

Gender also influences feedlot performance. Male calves generally achieve higher daily weight gains and convert feed more efficiently than female calves. “The key is understanding how different classes of animals perform and ensuring they are marketed appropriately,” Liebenberg says.

Ultimately, feedlots are looking for animals that can convert feed into high-quality beef - efficiently and consistently.

The most important qualities in weaner calves

#1: Health comes first

While genetics, weight and growth potential all matter, Liebenberg says calf health remains the single most important factor. “Calves that have been properly vaccinated and weaned before entering the feedlot, generally cope better with transport and handling stress. They settle faster, remain healthier and convert feed more efficiently.” For farmers, this often translates into stronger demand and better marketability.

#2: Age matters

“As cattle mature, more of the energy they consume is directed towards maintenance rather than growth,” says Liebenberg. “Younger calves are generally more efficient at converting feed into muscle, which is why age is an important consideration for feedlots.”

#3: The balance of weight and condition

“There is an important difference between a calf that is heavy because it has grown well and one that is carrying excessive fat,” explains Liebenberg. Calves that are excessively fat often perform less efficiently in the feedlot, while those that are healthy, well-grown and in moderate condition, typically deliver better results.

#4: Good genetics and frame

Genetics play a significant role in determining how a calf grows and develops. Factors such as frame size, muscularity and maturity patterns all influence performance. “Medium- to large-frame animals generally offer excellent growth potential,” says Liebenberg. “They tend to grow efficiently, produce heavier carcasses and maintain strong performance throughout the feeding period.”

Breed selection also contributes to performance. “Crossbred calves often outperform the average of their parent breeds,” Liebenberg adds. “When managed correctly, they can offer an excellent balance between growth, muscle development and efficiency.”
